Dominant Buying Motive: BEING PAID WHAT HIS EXPERIENCE IS WORTH

He wants $2–4M a year and wants to stop doing $10-an-hour work himself.

> "I don't think it's unreasonable for me and my position with my experience to be making, you know, conservatively $2 to $4 million a year. (00:16:06)"

> "When we hang up, I have to go make photocopies, and I have to stuff a couple of envelopes… $10 an hour… I shouldn't be doing that. (00:50:35)"

> "I don't know how to get there, though, Jacob. (00:10:04)"

What he wants:

- $2–4M a year. He calls it a reasonable goal for a 41-year trial attorney.
- Fewer low-value tasks. He wants his time on work that bills at $500 an hour.
- More of the work he likes. Municipal court and probate litigation close faster and pay sooner.
- A plan. He is sure of the goal but not sure how to reach it.

What is stopping him:

- He is the whole team. About 100 tasks sit on his calendar across roughly 20 files.
- Calls go unanswered. Six or seven silent voicemails in one week, and no intake process.
- No marketing at all. In his words: "I don't do any marketing, none."
- Very cost sensitive. He hesitates on new subscriptions and walked away from a ~$7,000/mo pitch years ago.
- Messy online footprint. Mismatched addresses, two domains, and split review listings.

Why This Coaching Package

What it does for him:

- Turns his $2–4M goal into a plan with steps, so he is no longer guessing how to get there.
- Shows him how to hand off the photocopies and envelopes, so his hours go to billable work.
- Gives him a defined intake process so a $50–60K will contest is not lost to voicemail.

Elite Coach | $3,497/mo stand-alone

- Seller override: marketing and AI Workforce Pro were dropped; Elite Coach alone.
- One product only, so no bundle. He pays the stand-alone price of $3,497, with no savings.
- Includes weekly group coaching, practice area masterminds, virtual quarterly workshops, one annual in-person workshop.
- Revenue is unverified (HubSpot band $0–$250K). Confirm he can fund 4 months of services.

Why No Marketing or Ad Spend Yet

What it means for him:

- Money goes first to catching the calls he already gets, before paying for more.
- Marketing becomes a later step once coaching and intake are in place.

Why the report has no ad spend or ROI:

- This was a coaching and operations call, not a marketing call, and the seller removed marketing.
- The lead-gen gap is real: no marketing, and he did not appear in the non-branded searches we ran.
- Ads would waste money while calls reach voicemail. Fix intake first, then revisit marketing.
- Later steps (FCOO, FCFO, bookkeeping, AI) depend on revenue reaching $500K+ and are not recommended now.

Check before the call:

- Review counts are unconfirmed. The report has no review numbers. Do not quote any.
- PageSpeed was not obtained. Run it live if you want a score. None is in the report.
- Under $300K needs scoping approval. Revenue was never stated on the call.
- AI Workforce Pro ($350/user/mo) was demoed. It is not in this proposal. Be ready if he asks.

If He Pushes Back

"You said around $2,500 a month. This is more."

You said smaller programs start "right around $2,500" (00:52:24). Elite Coach is $3,497 stand-alone. Coach Essentials Plus is $2,497 stand-alone if he needs a lower option. Confirm with the sales lead first.

"I'm very, very cost sensitive."

At his own $500-an-hour rate, about 7 billable hours a month covers $3,497. He also said hiring means $50,000–$90,000 a year (00:09:12). This is an estimate, not a promise.

"Your pitch was close to $7,000 a month. That was a turnoff."

That was the old seminar-era program (00:03:47). You told him this plan is "not $7,500 a month by any means" (00:30:00). Today it is $3,497, about half.
