Dominant Buying Motive: CONSISTENCY

Marc wants steady, quality DWI cases so he keeps the boutique firm he controls.

> "I just want it to be a consistent stream with quality cases."
>
> "All I'm concerned about is just opening up the spigot again."
>
> "That way, there's margin for when we do have a trial, we can ramp up and it does, we flex, but we don't break."

What he wants:

- Open the spigot again. DWI inquiries have trickled for about two months.
- Quality, not a flood. A steady flow of cases he can give full attention.
- Stay a boutique. He holds capacity at 60–70% so he can flex for trials.
- Be where the business is. He wants Santa Fe and Rio Rancho cases.

What is stopping him:

- Loyal but unhappy. He pays two vendors and is "in an assessment period."
- No visibility. He opened the ad accounts but does not check them regularly.
- Unwatched gaps. LSA stops at 5 p.m., messages off, PPC not linked to GBP.
- Price jump. Rep-reported ad spend is about $3,000–$3,500/mo (unconfirmed).
- Soft on coaching. He said it "may not be a bad idea"; he wants ads first.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for him:

- Opens the spigot again with DWI demand from Santa Fe and Rio Rancho.
- Replaces two vendors he has to chase with one team and one view of results.
- Fixes the gaps found on the call: after-hours, GBP link, page titles.

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for him:

- Puts the firm in front of Santa Fe and Rio Rancho DWI searchers at a pace that fits his caseload.
- Starting at the conservative level lets him test results before committing more.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $7,500/mo — minimum viable spend across Google PPC and LSA.
- Aggressive: $12,000/mo — set by the 35% cap, not by a growth goal (he has none).

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: ~5 cases x $3K–$5K = $16K–$27K/mo vs. $7.5K spend = 2.1x–3.6x return.
- Aggressive: ~10 cases x $3K–$5K = $31K–$52K/mo vs. $12K spend = 2.6x–4.3x return.

All figures are estimates, not guaranteed. Case value ($3K–$5K) and 15% close rate are defaults; neither was stated.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: Criminal defense minimums: PPC $5,500 + LSA $2,000 = $7,500. No Meta, no PI ads.
- Aggressive: No goal stated; default $1.4M x 20% ÷ 12 = $23,333. Tier 4 (1.00x). Less $4,997 fee = $18,336, which breaks the cap, so it is held to $12,000.
- Total spend at aggressive: $20,197/mo = 34.6% of revenue. Under the 35% cap. (The decision file's $20,000 would be 48%.)

If She Pushes Back

"I already pay Jennifer and ConvertIt. Why add another vendor?"

He told us he is in an assessment period and leads have dried up. Nobody has to be fired: share the audit (LSA dark at 5 p.m., messages off, PPC unlinked) and let the results decide.

"That is a lot more than I spend now."

Start at the conservative $7,500: ~5 cases a month at $3K–$5K each is an estimated $16K–$27K. Bundling saves $997/mo.

"I do not want more volume. I do not want 40."

Agreed. Lead with the conservative range and show how to throttle spend. The goal is steady, not big, and caseload stays at 60–70%.
