Dominant Buying Motive: RETIREMENT INCOME

He wants to make real money from a new PI line, in limited hours, before he retires.

> "I'm 62, so I'm not interested in working any longer than I have to, but I've got to make some money before I retire."

> "I prefer to have fewer, larger cases, truck accidents, the bigger… I'm not sure I want to just develop a mill right out of the gate…"

> "…if I could get a half a dozen cases a month, I'd probably be really happy with that for starters."

What he wants:

- Cases in the door. About six new PI cases a month to start.
- Bigger cases. Truck accidents and wrongful death, not a high-volume mill.
- A real PI line. At least $500K to $1M in PI revenue in 2027.
- Limited hours. He runs PI himself and wants no associate until he needs one.

What is stopping him:

- No PI lead source. No PI pages or ads were observed, and he has had one big PI case so far.
- Fear of changing vendors. Past SEO changes cost him six months of rankings, so family law stays put.
- Cash timing. He expects months of work before fees, and would finance a program with a clear return.
- After-hours gap. His paralegal works business hours only.
- Bicycle niche rejected. He wants truck cases, which are the most competitive searches.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for him:

- Puts the new PI practice in front of Denver injury searchers for the first time.
- Aims the spend at truck and wrongful death cases, not the bike cases he turned down.
- Leaves his family law SEO and rankings untouched.

Paid Ads Starter | $3,497/mo stand-alone

- Seller switched Full Service Starter to Paid Ads Starter (Slack, Oct 30). Override applies.
- Revenue unconfirmed: ~$1M on the call, $570K in HubSpot. Confirm first.
- No PI pages exist and Paid Ads has no web build. Raise landing pages on the call.
- Paid Ads Starter ad cap is $20,000/mo. The aggressive end sits right at it.

Why Ads Only (No Coaching Yet)

What it does for him:

- Keeps the first step small and measurable before he finances anything more.
- Lets him see what each lead costs before he adds help or hires.

Roadmap: FCOO Advisor, then FCFO Advisor, Bookkeeping, AI Workforce Pro

- Seller removed Elite Coach Plus (Slack, Oct 28). Ads-only usually pairs with coaching. Confirm.
- PI in Denver (top-40 metro) needs scoping approval first.

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for him:

- Gives the PI line a real shot at six cases a month instead of a hope.
- Lets him start low, watch the return, and scale only when it works.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $7,500/mo. Minimum viable spend across Google, LSA, and Meta retargeting.
- Aggressive: $20,000/mo. The Paid Ads Starter cap, to chase his 2027 goal.

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: ~3 cases x $6.5K = ~$21K/mo vs. $7.5K spend = 2.8x return.
- Aggressive: ~11 cases x $6.5K = ~$73K/mo vs. $20K spend = 3.7x return.

All figures are estimates. Not guaranteed. He did not state a case value; $6.5K is the $5K-$8K injury default. Close rate is the 15% default.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: Injury mix: Google $4,500 + LSA $2,000 + Meta $1,000 = $7,500, with a 20% cost cushion.
- Aggressive: $20,000 mix: Google $10K, LSA $5K, Meta $5K. This is the tier cap. His $1M goal needs ~$22.7K.
- Total spend at aggressive: $23,497/mo = 28.2% of $1M revenue. Under the 35% cap. At $570K it would be 49.5%.

If He Pushes Back

"Every time I've changed SEO companies in the past, my rankings drop for six months."

Paid Ads Starter does not touch his family law SEO. The PI campaign runs on its own, and nothing is replaced.

"I'm sort of turned off on [bicycle cases] because I don't know that you're often going to have the defendant's insurance information."

Agreed. The plan targets truck accident and wrongful death searches. Frank Azar and The Wilhite Law Firm hold very large review bases there, so start with Aurora, Lakewood, and construction and trucking terms.

"If it's a really robust program and I really have good, you know, reasonable expectations of a return on it, I'm willing to finance it."

Start at $7,500 with monthly reporting on cost per signed case. PI cases take months to resolve, so cash lags the spend. Set that expectation now.
