The Moloney Law Firm

Prospect Snapshot

Owner	Revenue	Team	Stage	Close Rate	Location
Bradley Moloney	~$250K	1 (solo)	Stage 3	Not stated	Denver, CO

Dominant Buying Motive: FREEDOM

Brad wants a firm with no staff, run by systems he builds, so the process itself is the asset.

> "I wanted to set up the firm such that it would just be me. So everything else could be automated."

> "...the thing that I'm building would be the actual process, the actual architecture behind the business, not the practice of law..."

> "I love working on the business more than I like working in the business."

What he wants:

- Automation first. A daily discovery routine and new-lead follow-up that run without him.
- No staff, ever. He has managed people since age 19 and is done with that.
- A system worth owning. The architecture behind the firm is the product, not the practice.
- Room for more business. Goal is about $350K next year, after the automation is in.

What is stopping him:

- He is the whole firm. Only one doing intake, court, and filings (00:45:39).
- Tool sprawl. Clio, Lawmatics, Dialpad, Make.com overlap. Software is his biggest expense.
- He likes building it. On a CTO: "I enjoy it too much" (00:45:17).
- Not lead-starved. "Not in a stage of hurting" (00:06:49), so marketing is not the pitch.
- Budget unknown. No pricing was quoted on the call. Revenue is about $250K.

Why This Legal AI Workforce Package

What it does for him:

- Gives him a managed AI workspace for the daily admin he wants off his desk.
- A weekly session turns his wish list into working routines, one at a time.
- Builds toward a firm whose process, not his hours, holds the value.

AI Workforce Pro – Starter (1 seat) | $350/mo bundled

- The call was AI-led. Jacob said AI Workforce Pro makes the most sense (00:44:49).
- Starter (1-4 users): 1 seat x $350/mo. Month-to-month. No stand-alone price.
- Seller override (Slack, 10/21): AI Workforce Pro only. No marketing, coaching, or fCTO.
- Confirm LAW delivery has launched and has capacity before sending.

Why No Fractional CTO

Why it is left out:

- Seller excluded it. The 10/21 override limits the proposal to AI Workforce Pro.
- He wants to build it himself. Jacob called a CTO "possibly" a fit.
- Revenue floor. Fractional CTO Level 1 needs $400K+. He is at about $250K.
- Revisit if revenue passes $400K or the build load outgrows his time.

Why No Marketing Or Ad Spend

What this does for him:

- Frees his capacity before any new leads land on a one-person desk.
- Keeps the first proposal small, matching what he asked about.

Why it is left out:

- SEO is covered. His vendor contract runs to about April 2027 (00:05:06). He will not renew.
- Lead flow is fine. Referrals and organic Google bring most work (00:06:25).
- He already runs small ads. Limited Microsoft ads, self-managed. Budget not stated.
- No ad spend, ROI projection, or ad-range math applies. Total spend is $350/mo, 1.7% of monthly revenue.

Free wins to lead with now:

- Export SEO rankings and reports before the vendor contract ends.
- Start a review-request routine. Review counts are unconfirmed, so verify live first.

No competitor ad, LSA, or 3-pack data was observed. PageSpeed was not obtained. Do not cite any.

If He Pushes Back

"I would rather build the automations myself."

He already uses Claude, ChatGPT, and Make.com, yet discovery and lead follow-up are still manual. Pre-built Law Firm AI Skills and a weekly session give him structure, not a blank page.

"I am not short on leads, so why change anything?"

Agreed. Nothing here adds leads. It frees his time first, so more business later adds revenue instead of hours. He said he wants automation "so that I can make room for more business" (00:07:00).

"I already have too many tools and subscriptions."

Software is his biggest expense. Pitch this as one workspace to absorb work, not another tool to manage. It is $350/mo and month-to-month, so he can test it with low risk.
