Dominant Buying Motive: BRAND OVER SELF

Paul wants a firm that is the brand in every office, with nothing pointing back to him.

> "I don't want to brand myself or an attorney. I want to brand us."

> "Anything that points back to me, I do not want."

> "I'm never opposed to learning or working with, but I will never ever turn it over again."

What he wants:

- A firm that is “us.” No founder-led GBP, LSA or avatar.
- More offices. His own math: 10 locations, five clients a month each.
- Control in-house. He wants help and learning, not a vendor running marketing.
- A bigger team behind marketing. He wants his marketing director to have people.

What is stopping him:

- A small decision circle. Decisions are shared between Paul and Kim, with no wider leadership layer.
- Past agency burns. Scorpion and a second firm: “big hat, no cattle.”
- No after-hours coverage. Ads run at all times; the phones stop at 5 PM.
- No Colorado Springs address. The firm shows in 0 of 4 map searches there.

Why This Coaching Package

What it does for him:

- Gives Paul and his leaders a weekly room to build the systems that make the firm the brand.
- Puts his ten-office plan in front of other firm owners before the next lease is signed.
- Keeps learning in-house: coaching, not a vendor taking over his marketing.

Master's Circle | $4,600/mo bundled

- Seller override is locked: Master's Circle only. The call was coaching-led with no lead-gen gap.
- Rules need 5+ team and a dedicated ops, marketing or intake person. Team size was not stated (3 assumed). Confirm headcount.
- Revenue of $3M+ is from HubSpot, not the call. $4,600 is about 1.8% of monthly revenue, far under the 35% cap.
- Fractional COO/CFO hours described on the call are not in this price. FCOO Advisor is the Phase 2 add.

What We Are Not Selling, and Why

- Marketing and ad spend. Paul and his marketing director run ads in-house and asked for no lead-gen help. The report has no ad spend or ROI block.
- AI and fractional CTO. Discussed briefly. Paul pushed back on ownership: “any AI that we develop… it's ours.” AI Workforce Pro appears only as a Phase 3 idea.
- AI avatar video. Needs Alexis approval. Paul would only use a branded, non-founder avatar.
- 24/7 answering and recruiting. Pitched on the call, not in this proposal. Paul is running a 90-day phone report to size the after-hours gap.

If He Pushes Back

"We already run our marketing in-house. What do we get?"

Agree with him. The audit found lead gen strong: 855 five-star reviews and #1 in 4 of 4 Monument searches. Master's Circle is coaching, not marketing. The gap is the leadership layer and operations, and he said “I welcome and want more help in all of it.”

"I will never turn it over again."

Nothing is turned over. His team keeps running the work while he and his leaders get coaching and peer input. This is the opposite of the Scorpion experience.

"Why $4,600 a month?"

Weekly group coaching, practice area masterminds, virtual quarterly workshops and one annual in-person workshop. Use his own test: a satellite office costs about $30,000 to build and $3,000 a month, so one clearer expansion decision can pay for the program.

"Kim should be part of this."

Agreed. Kim could not make the Friday 11:00 to 12:00 MT slot, so offer a follow-up where Kim joins before anything is signed.
