Prospect Snapshot

Owner	Revenue	Team	Stage	Close Rate	Location
Brandon Sapala	~$570K (est.)	Solo (1)	Stage 3	15% (default)	Mt. Pleasant, SC

Dominant Buying Motive: FREEDOM (OPERATOR TO OWNER)

Brandon wants Sapala LLP to run without him handling every deal personally, so he can shift from operator to rainmaker -- and eventually owner -- while building toward a residential title agency and a Miami commercial finance practice.

"Collected: $28k (Apr), $30s (May), $43k (June)."

"Transition from operator to rainmaker within 3-5 years."

What he wants:

- Step back from being the only operator. Become the rainmaker, not the whole back office.
- Build toward two future engines. A residential title agency (SC/FL) and a Miami commercial finance practice -- both still just vision today.
- Own the firm, not just run it. His stated 3-5 year goal is ownership, not day-to-day operating.

What is stopping him:

- No team exists. Brandon is the sole attorney and operator, five months into the firm.
- No intake process. Every referral reaches him personally, with no after-hours coverage.
- Zero paid marketing. Growth has come only from referrals -- capped by his own network size.
- No profit plan. Revenue is tracked, but margin and take-home are not.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for him:

- Gives the firm its first paid lead channel -- visibility that doesn't depend on Brandon's personal network.
- Turns the website into a real conversion tool with a visible CTA and contact path.

Full Service Marketing -- Starter | $4,997/mo bundled

- Revenue (~$570K est.) and single location put the firm in the Starter band.
- Neither named local competitor (Buist Byars & Taylor, Graybill Lansche & Vinzani) runs paid search -- a low-cost entry window right now.
- Essentials was considered, but the aggressive ad spend ($14,000) exceeds its $5,000 cap; Starter's $20,000 cap fits.

Why This Coaching Package

What it does for him:

- Builds the operational structure needed to bring on the firm's first hire.
- Gives Brandon a peer group of law firm owners working through the same operator-to-owner transition.

Elite Coach Plus | $3,200/mo bundled

- Revenue band ($400K-$1M) recommends Elite Coach Plus regardless of team size.
- Team is solo (1) -- FCOO Advisor add-on is not appropriate yet; revisit once Phase 2 hiring begins.
- Directly addresses the Team pillar (RED) and Profit pillar (AMBER) findings from the audit.

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for him:

- Opens a second client channel independent of referrals, so growth isn't capped by Brandon's personal network.
- Positions the firm ahead of two named competitors who are not yet running any paid search.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $3,500/mo -- Business Law Google PPC minimum, the one channel that fits an institutional B2B practice today.
- Aggressive: $14,000/mo -- full budget tied to a 2x revenue growth target; a stretch goal, not a day-one recommendation.

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: ~4 cases x $5K default value = $20K/mo vs. $3.5K spend = 5.7x return.
- Aggressive: ~19 cases x $5K default value = $95K/mo vs. $14K spend = 6.8x return.

All figures are estimates using a general "Business Law" default (no CRE finance-specific case data exists). Not guaranteed.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: Business Law Google PPC minimum $3,500 (LSA/Meta are not typical channels for this institutional niche yet).
- Aggressive: $1.14M goal (2x current ~$570K est.) x 20% / 12 = $19,000. Tier 4 market (1.0x) = $19,000. Minus $4,997 fee = ~$14,000.
- Total spend at aggressive ($22,197) is ~52% of June's actual $43K collected -- above the 35% cap vs. today's revenue. It only fits under 35% against the 2x goal itself. Treat as a phase-in target, not a day-1 spend.

If He Pushes Back

"I don't really need marketing -- everything comes from referrals."

True today, and that's exactly the risk -- growth is capped at the size of his personal network. Neither named competitor is running paid search either, so this is the cheapest entry window this channel will ever have.

"I'm the only one who can really talk to these clients -- an intake process won't work for deals this size."

Intake isn't about replacing him on live deals -- it's about catching and qualifying the conversation before it reaches his calendar, so referrals don't go to voicemail after hours.

"$8,197/month feels like a lot for a firm this new."

At the conservative ad spend, total monthly spend ($11,697) is ~27% of June's $43K collected -- under the 35% guideline, and it directly addresses the two RED pillars (Lead Gen, Team) limiting growth right now.
