Dominant Buying Motive: TIME + REPUTATION

Rachel wants marketing that works without her time and an online presence that matches the firm's reputation.

> "I'm in court every day. And when I'm not in court, I'm doing consults. I'm writing briefs, et cetera."

> "I feel like I'm losing a lot of the market share or clients because of my less than stellar web page."

> "I want to centralize everything so that I'm not doing these Google click things... I want just one centralized."

What she wants:

- One centralized partner. Website, Google, and ads under one team, not separate vendors.
- Marketing that works without her. She is in court daily with little time to manage ads.
- A presence that matches her name. She fears losing clients to lawyers who advertise better.

What is stopping her:

- Weak web presence. Dated site, generic headline, mobile Lighthouse 44–67.
- Ads aimed wrong. Current Google Ads lean to PI and wills/trusts, not family law.
- No spare time. She wants her house in order before hiring.
- Price worry. She expects SMB Team to cost more than her $2,900 vendor.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for her:

- One team runs her website, Google presence, and ads so she can stay in court.
- Family-law LSAs and search ads reach the divorce searches she misses today.
- Her site and Google profile finally look like a 40-year firm.

Option 1: Full Service Marketing Starter | $5,697/mo stand-alone

- Seller locked Starter; revenue is not stated.
- Starter covers 2 GBP locations and 250 imported pages.
- Family law plus PI rules out Essentials, so Starter is the eligible tier.
- No coaching, so no bundle: $5,697 stand-alone and $0 savings.

Why The Second Option (Essentials, No Coaching)

What it does for her:

- A lower starting cost if her price worry wins out.
- Same Full Service system: site, local SEO, LSA, Google, and social.

Option 2: Full Service Marketing Essentials | $3,797/mo stand-alone

- Essentials needs one practice area and one office; seller requested it.
- Scope is tighter: 1 GBP location, 10 imported pages, 5,000 initial words.
- It costs $1,900/mo less than Option 1 (5,697 minus 3,797).

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for her:

- Family-law LSAs and search ads reach divorce and custody searches that go to others today.
- Spend moves off PI and wills/trusts toward the cases she wants most.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $5,000/mo — seller-set, same for both options.
- Aggressive: $5,000/mo — seller-set; no revenue goal was stated.

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: 6.8 cases x $10.8K = $73K/mo vs. $5.0K spend = 14.7x return.
- Aggressive: 8.2 cases x $10.8K = $88K/mo vs. $5.0K spend = 17.6x return.

All figures are estimates. Not guaranteed.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: Family law split LSA $2,000 + Google $3,000. CPL $92 + 20% = $110. 45 leads x 15% default close.
- Aggressive: Same spend, CPL $92, no cushion. 54 leads x 15% close. Case value $10.8K = avg of her 3 retainers.
- Revenue is not stated: 35% cap needs $30.6K/mo (Opt 1) or $25.1K/mo (Opt 2). Spend is under the $5,500 channel minimum: paid ads review.

If She Pushes Back

"You guys are much more expensive, I imagine."

She pays about $2,900/mo for ads plus website and does not know the split. Option 2 is $3,797 and Option 1 is $5,697, with ad spend set at $5,000 for both.

"I do not want PI ads hurting my matrimonial brand."

The plan leads with family law and keeps those campaigns and pages separate. PI comes later and carefully, on her terms.

"I already have a vendor."

She called that work lackluster and wants one centralized partner. Ask the contract end date and cancellation terms first.
