Dominant Buying Motive: TIME BACK

She wants the administrative work off her plate so she can grow without being the bottleneck.

> "somewhere I can take some of the administrative duties off of me"
>
> "that is where I am looking for some escape"
>
> "if I get more clients, I don't have enough bandwidth to address those clients"

What she wants:

- Admin off her desk. Invoicing, scanning, email, and calendar work should run without her.
- Room to grow. She wants to serve more clients without adding her own hours.
- Knowledge kept in-house. She wants to keep the data her contractor uses if he leaves.
- A low-risk start. She called $350 "really, really cost effective" and wants a demo first.

What is stopping her:

- One-person show. She has one contractor co-writer and plans to hire two more.
- Manual billing. Every invoice is built, attached, and emailed by hand.
- Budget priorities. A past marketing quote (about $3,000/mo) did not fit her financial priorities.
- Tool fatigue. She tried Claude, Gemini, and Copilot earlier and was unimpressed.
- Fit question. She is not barred in the U.S. and runs a professional services company, not a law firm.

Why This AI Package

What it does for her:

- Takes repeat admin work off her desk so her hours go back to petitions.
- Puts her and her contractor in one shared setup, so the knowledge stays in the business.
- Builds the habit of delegating to AI before she hires two more people.

AI Workforce Pro – Starter | $700/mo (2 users x $350/user)

- The call was about AI, not marketing, and she put lead gen behind automating operations.
- Starter is month-to-month with 1M AI credits per user and a weekly AI Implementation Session.
- Rep quoted one license on the call. She floated two so her contractor can link in. Confirm seats.
- $700/mo is under the $2,497 minimum. The seller locked the package in Slack.

What We Left Out, and Why

- Marketing: She is short on capacity, not leads. Revisit in Phase 2 once admin is automated.
- Coaching: It was not discussed on the call. Add it only if the seller wants it.

Why No Ad Spend

What it does for her:

- Frees capacity first, so the next lead is a client she can actually serve.
- Keeps her spend small while she tests whether AI fits her daily work.

Recommended Ad Spend:

- None. No marketing package is in this proposal, so there is no ad spend or ROI projection.
- Phase 2 trigger: Once admin runs on automation, she said she would like to run lead gen in parallel.

No projections are shown because no ads are recommended.

Before The Call

- Seats: Confirm one or two users with Ashley before quoting $350 or $700.
- Fit: Confirm AI Workforce Pro has no limit for a non-law-firm professional services company.
- Delivery: Confirm the AI package is live and has capacity before sending.
- Wording: Do not say "enterprise" or "enterprise-grade." The rep prefers not to.
- Research gaps: PageSpeed, Google profile, ad, and review data were not obtained. Check them live.
- Revenue: Not stated on the call. $200K is seller-set. Confirm she can fund 4 months ($2,800).
- Next steps she asked for: a demo account, the agent-building workshop recording, and an implementation specialist on the call.

If She Pushes Back

"The marketing price did not make sense for us before."

This is not that. It is $700/mo for two users, month-to-month. She called the $350 price "really, really cost effective." Marketing is a later phase.

"I tried Claude, Gemini, and Copilot and was not impressed."

The weekly implementation session builds the workflows with her. She can start with a demo account and stay month-to-month.

"Does this work for a company that is not a law firm?"

The rep did not believe there is a limit but said he would confirm (00:18:23, 00:21:20). Confirm first. Do not promise it before then.
