Dominant Buying Motive: FREEDOM

He wants a firm that grows at least fivefold without depending on one big client or on him closing every lead.

> "I feel confident closing leads, but I shouldn't be the guy. It shouldn't be dependent on me."

> "We have one major client, a corporate client, from whom 80% of our revenue comes, right? It's a good position, but it's also very risky."

> "at a minimum, I'd want to increase that fivefold."

What he wants:

- A second lead source. Meta alone is fading, and he wants an agency to own the ads.
- Out of the closer seat. He wants intake that does not depend on him.
- Less client risk. One corporate client brings most of the revenue.
- Fivefold growth. His goal is about CAD 5M at a minimum.

What is stopping him:

- One shrinking funnel. Registrations, consultations and attendance (now near 40%) are all down.
- He is the closer. A second practitioner is in training, but volume is too low to hand off calls.
- Agency skepticism. He fears an agency will not give his account enough attention.
- Cost worry. He has always worried about cost, yet says he will spend more if ROAS is there.
- A bad recent month. Spend outran results, he cannot state a CPL, and past Google leads felt cold.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for him:

- Gives him a second, managed lead source so growth is not tied to one webinar.
- Puts one accountable team on the ads, so he is not the one watching them daily.
- Ties spend to booked consultations and signed files, so spending more is a measured call.

Full Service Marketing Essentials | $3,797/mo (stand-alone price, no bundle discount)

- Seller override locked this package, so no coaching is paired and there is no bundle savings.
- Warning: Essentials needs one practice area, and Goose Law has two (business and individual immigration).
- Warning: Essentials is hidden above $750K. He says about CAD 1M; HubSpot shows $180K to $960K. Confirm revenue.
- Essentials caps ad spend at $7,500, so Starter is the likely next tier as he scales.

Why No Coaching Package

Why it was left out:

- The call was about ad management, and the seller locked a marketing-only package.
- The revenue table picked Elite Coach Plus. It was not shown to the client.
- Phase 2 is the FCOO Advisor ($3,297/mo), which fits taking him out of the middle.
- He named intake as the next need. Intake OS has no price in our tables, so none is quoted.

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for him:

- Funds a second paid channel so one Meta funnel no longer carries the firm.
- Builds a tested cost per consultation and per client, so spend can grow with proof.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $3,500/mo — minimum viable spend across the recommended channels.
- Aggressive: $7,500/mo — the Essentials tier cap.

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: 5.4 cases x CAD 10K = about CAD 54K/mo vs. $3.5K spend = 15.5x return.
- Aggressive: 14.0 cases x CAD 10K = about CAD 140K/mo vs. $7.5K spend = 18.6x return.

All figures are estimates. Not guaranteed. Ad currency (CAD or USD) is unconfirmed; verify with him.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: $3,500 from the package decision file. Immigration Google minimum is $3,000.
- Aggressive: the uncapped floor was $14,000, so it is capped at the $7,500 Essentials limit.
- Blended CPL $80.50 (Google 40%, Meta cold 40%, retargeting 20%), 15% close. Total at aggressive: $11,297/mo = 13.6% of revenue, under the 35% cap.

If She Pushes Back

"I am skeptical that an agency will give my account enough attention."
He worried agencies favor larger clients [0:27:00]. Point to monthly reporting and strategy calls, and offer to name his Onboarding contact at kickoff.

"What is your success rate in Canada specifically?"
He asked this at [0:31:19]. Confirm real Canadian client results with sales ops first. Do not quote a figure you cannot back up.

"I have always been concerned about the cost."
The fee is a flat $3,797/mo and ads can start near $3,500. He said spend matters less than ROAS [0:19:57], so anchor on cost per signed client.

"Google Ads gave me cold leads before."
Cold leads often trace to keywords, landing page and follow-up speed. Today his only paid channel is Meta, so Google is untested in this setup.
