Dominant Buying Motive: CASH FLOW

Freddy wants the fastest cash he can get right now, so the firm runs on house money instead of his own.

> "I want to be playing with house money, not my money, which I've been doing forever."

> "I'm just trying to get the most collection of cash I can right now. That's all that really matters right now."

> "Right now it's about walking people in that door."

What he wants:

- Fast cash. He wants the quickest return on ad dollars, then long-term SEO later.
- More cases in the door. "It's lead flow" — he sees about 60 added cases a month across three counties as worth any spend.
- Spend on ads, not management. He wants more of the budget on PPC and landing pages than on fees.
- Proof of return. He tracks every case and will send a monthly signed-case list.

What is stopping him:

- Two bad SMB experiences. Radius targeting over the ocean near Georgetown, and a video shoot about 3 months late.
- Contract length. He wants month-to-month; the standard term is 12 months.
- Tight cash. He wants the lowest fee to start and said a setup fee is not workable right now.
- Ad tests that did not work. $3K, $5K, and $10K tests showed no lift; the one-county $3K test did best.
- Weak assets. 2019 website, about 9% DUI map coverage vs. 43–65% for rivals, no Spartanburg page.

Why This Marketing Package

What it does for him:

- It takes LSA and PPC off his plate so he can stay in court.
- It puts spend into county-level campaigns and pages, where his own $3,000 test worked best.
- It shows what each county returns, so he can scale only what pays.

Full Service Marketing — Essentials | $3,797/mo (stand-alone)

- Seller picked the lowest full-service tier for his budget; Essentials normally needs under $750K, one office, one practice area — approval needed.
- Price shown is $3,797 as quoted on the call; the decision file says $3,497 bundled with no bundle — confirm with the seller.
- LSA and PPC takeover, 4 landing pages, web/SEO, maps, and AI visibility all answer "it's lead flow."
- No coaching, ops, or AI product: the call was only about lead flow. Meta stays with his vendor.

Why This Ad Spend

What it does for him:

- It puts money on high-intent DUI, domestic violence, and drug searches in his best counties.
- It starts near the $5,000 he suggested, with room to grow after he sees results.

Recommended Ad Spend Range:

- Conservative: $4,500/mo — seller-set low end; below the $7,500 criminal defense channel minimums (flag for paid ads review).
- Aggressive: $6,000/mo — seller-set high end; under the $7,500 Essentials cap.

Estimated Return on Investment:

- Conservative: ~11 cases x $5K = ~$54.8K/mo vs. $4.5K spend = ~12.2x return.
- Aggressive: ~17 cases x $5K = ~$87.4K/mo vs. $6K spend = ~14.6x return.

All figures are estimates. Not guaranteed. Uses his own 50% close rate and $5,000 case; treat as best case, since his 2026 tests showed no lift.

How the range was calculated:

- Conservative: $4,500 split PPC $2,500 + LSA $2,000. Blended cost per lead $171 + 20% cushion = $205, so ~22 leads x 50% = ~11 cases.
- Aggressive: $6,000 split PPC $3,500 + LSA $2,500, ~$172 per lead, so ~35 leads x 50% = ~17 cases. No goal stated; the 20% rule on 2x revenue (~$66K/mo) is far above the cap.
- Total at aggressive: $9,797/mo = ~5.9% of est. monthly revenue ($165K from HubSpot range midpoint). Under the 35% cap.

If She Pushes Back

"I don't want to sign a one year contract on something I don't know."

The standard term is 12 months, and a shorter term needs sales-ops approval, so do not promise one. Lead with the Jerry Novak reference, LSA quick wins in the first weeks, and his written county approval before launch.

"I've already had two bad experiences."

Name both: the ocean radius targeting and the late video shoot. This plan is county by county with his sign-off on the targets, and Dan joins the first 2–3 calls so he is not handed off.

"$130,000 is a lot to see if you can move the needle."

His math is ~$50K a year in fees plus ~$75–80K in ads. Fees are $3,797 x 12 = $45,564, there is no setup fee, and ads start at $4,500–$6,000 so he scales only after seeing cost per signed case.
